Demystifying University

University can seem intimidating if you have never been there.

A group of Te Atatū Intermediate students created a VR experience to demystify the University of Auckland for their peers.

The students began the day sharing kai at Te Ahi Hangarau Technology Hub, followed by hands-on VR training.

They then captured 360 degree footage at five locations: the Science and Engineering Buildings, the Quad, the Technology Hub and the Unleash Space.

Their footage was turned into a VR experience for their peers at a Science & Engineering Expo at Te Atatū Intermediate.

Thank you to Te Ahi Hangarau Technology Hub and SkillsVR for the production of the VR experience!
