

First_year@Unimelb

A blog of your first year experience

Q: What is blogging?

A: a 'web log' – an online journal of news and views.

and in 2009 we want YOU to contribute to the First Year @ Unimelb Blog!

- Do you like to write?
- Do you want to help future students understand what uni's about?
- Do you want to be part of an online community, sharing advice (and getting advice!) about how to settle in to first year?

The First Year@Unimelb blog is about to begin its fourth year of giving first years space to share their experience of starting uni with others. Future students and other first years from Melbourne and around the world read the blog to find out what uni is really like, day to day: in fact, around 2000 readers a month tune in to find out the latest happenings in First Year@Unimelb.

How do you become a blogger?

Simply fill out this form and return it to Transition & Orientation Programs, 4th floor, Walter Boas Building, or email your responses to transition-info@unimelb.edu.au

Full Name: _____ Student Number: _____

Course: _____

University Email address: _____

Phone number: _____

Give us a mini-blog (up to 100 words) about why you would be a great first year blogger!

Want to see what it's all about?

Go to: http://transition-blogs.unimelb.edu.au/first_year/

If you don't want to be a blogger, you can still be a reader and make comments!