

JULIE LINDSAY, PHD

Senior Education Technology Advisor in Australia

 Visit my website

Julie is a thought leader in online learning and global collaboration, innovator, teacherpreneur, keynote speaker and author. She has a 30+ years career in higher education and K-12 schools. She worked in international schools for fifteen years as an educational technology leader across Asia, Africa and the Middle East. Her passion is for online global collaboration and as Founder and CEO of Flat Connections she designs and manages award-winning online projects for all K-12 levels and customizes learning experiences for educators including virtual courses and live events. She has presented keynotes and workshops at conferences around the world and designed and implemented her own conferences that bring learners of all ages (educators and students) together for challenge-based problem-solving.

Julie is the Senior Education Technology Advisor, Academic Transformation Portfolio at the University of Southern Queensland. Prior to taking on this position at USQ, she worked at Charles Sturt University designing and teaching courses in the School of Information Studies, Master of Education (Knowledge Networks and Digital Innovation) degree. In the Charles Sturt u!magine Innovation Unit, Julie was Quality Learning and Teaching Academic Lead for the Faculty of Arts and Education where she supported subject development with Online Learning Model integration. She was the Open Pathways Design Lead, where she designed and facilitated open learning courses.